

Emergenetics International Named 2018 Woman-Owned Business of the Year by the Denver Metro Chamber of Commerce

Founder and CEO of Emergenetics International Dr. Geil Browning Receives Award from Denver Metro Chamber of Commerce. Photo Credit: Dave Anderson, InSync Photography + Design

Centennial, CO (May 1, 2018) – Emergenetics International, an organizational development consulting company, is proud to be the recipient of the 2018 Woman-Owned Business of the Year Award by the Denver Metro Chamber of Commerce, which was presented to the organization at the Business Awards luncheon on Friday, April 27 at Infinity Park. The award recognizes the company for its business excellence and community impact. This is the first time Emergenetics International has received this award.

“It is an immense honor to receive this award as we’ve worked hard to build a company that helps organizations and individuals create positive and productive relationships and workplace cultures,” says Founder and CEO Dr. Geil Browning. “I started the business more than 30 years ago and to be recognized for our growth, achievements and contributions to the community is a very proud moment for me and our team around the world.”

Since 1991, Emergenetics International has worked with hundreds of Colorado-based companies of all sizes to build self-aware employees, strong leaders, productive teams and positive workplace cultures.

An annual event, the Denver Metro Chamber of Commerce’s Business Awards celebrate organizations from across the region that are leading in their field and making an impact in the community – writing the area’s next chapter as a great community to live and do business. This year marked Emergenetics’ first nomination and win.

About Emergenetics International

Founded in 1991, Emergenetics International helps individuals and organizations create positive and productive relationships and workplace cultures. Built on proprietary robust psychometric research, Emergenetics International’s products and services empower human connection and performance and provide a simpler way for people to understand themselves and others through tools that measure the thinking and behavioral preferences of adults. Emergenetics International has been recognized by Inc. Magazine as one America’s Fastest-Growing Private Companies for the past seven consecutive years. Its global headquarters is located in Centennial, Colorado, and the company has regional offices in Singapore and Ireland as well as representation in nearly 30 countries across the globe.

###